

TAOS MOUNTAIN FILM FESTIVAL

PROGRAM CHANGES

Photographer BETH WALD is delayed, safely, in Afghanistan and unfortunately will not be able to attend the festival. The exhibition of her photographs will still take place at 5pm on Saturday 12th at the Michael McCormick Gallery. Her slide show has had to be cancelled. In its place we will screen Sentinel West Face, a film shot by Tom Frost and featuring Royal Robbins climbing.

TOM FROST's photographs were unfortunately not available for exhibit. Tom has promised Mountainfilm that he will bring them to Taos in the not-too-distant future. We had hoped to replace this exhibition with Frank Hurley's photographs of the Endurance exploration but were unable to overcome problems with acquisition in the time frame.

Due to an illness in the family, SCOTT RANSOM will not be able to arrive in Taos until Saturday. Therefore we have had to switch his presentation of Endurance to Sunday evening and Dave Hahn's to Friday. The breakfast conversations (Café y Postres) have also had to be changed. This is the final schedule!
