ENTROPY

The influence of wakeboarding style on the aerial acrobatic sport of snowkiting is impressively displayed in this exciting film from Norway. Five of the world's best riders air it out in locations across the globe. www.snowkitefilm.com

Best Short, Nordic Mountain Film Festival

Morten Gjerstad, Norway, 38mins, 2006, North American Premiere

LOST AND FOUND

More exhilarating skiing/snowboarding eye-feasting fare from the accomplished Teton Gravity Research team. From blasting over-the-head powder pillows at Skeena Heli to find the scariest spine lines ever captured on film in the vast Tordrillo Range of Alaska, this Hi Def spectacle will leave you priming your pump for winter. www.tetongravity.com

MEKONG: EXPLORING THE MOTHER OF WATERS

This epic journey is at once a thrilling kayak adventure and an exploration of the myriad cultures and ecosystems of the Mekong River. Lush images and thoughtful journalism raise our appreciation of the region's richness and our awareness of its vulnerability to such forces as the dam building Chinese. www.mekongdescentfoundation.org

LEARNING TO FLY

This exhilarating film follows a first time B.A.S.E. jumper through his breathtaking first year in the air. Starting on a bridge in Idaho and ending with one of the world's largest jumps off the Eiger, this short captures the essence of this death-defying sport and the character of one of its fast-dropping stars.

Lincoln Else and Chris McNamara, USA, 15mins, 2007

RIDING THE EDGE

With terrifying footage of the near fatal jump off the Rio Grande Gorge Bridge in Taos, this thrilling film sheds light on why leaping off of buildings, bridges and antennas is the only fix for so many adrenaline addicts.

Richard Alexander, USA, 26min 30 sec, 2007, World Premiere

In person, Richard Alexander

24 SOLO

This unflinching look at the world of 24 Hour Solo mountain bike racing takes viewers on an epic roller coaster ride through the bamboo forests of China, into the throat of a violent thunderstorm in Wisconsin and over the scorched, granite hillsides of Georgia. The intense racing action is complemented by a personal insight into the life of the world's most accomplished 24 Hour racer. www.24-solo.com
